And we are so glad that I didBy Prewitt FamilyMy boy loves dinosaurs and I needed a poem book for our homeschool curriculum, so it only made sense that I sought out a dinosaur poem book. While I had never heard of this one before, I took a chance and bought it. And we are so glad that I did. My son loves the poems, and has memorized many of them. His favorite is the one that counts down from 10. It's been a wonderful learning experience for him, and a great addition to our homeschool library.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. and humor in this text will make it a favorite addition to any family's libraryBy Rita KeneficAlthough I bought this for my grandson who is obsessed with dinosaurs,I found myself enjoying every poem before I even presented the book to him. This is an ideal introduction to poetry and is especially appropriate for those youngsters who are passionate about dinosaurs. The pictures, information, and humor in this text will make it a favorite addition to any family's library. Got my non-reader to readBy A CustomerMy 9 year-old son brought this book home from the library yesterday and was actually excited about reading, for the first time, ever. He read some of the poems to me and I found them to be really clever. We both got a chuckle out of what really happened to the dinosaurs.

Contains poems about dinosaurs. This work has poems about the Stegosaurus, Tyrannosaurus Rex, the Bookoceros, together with dancing dinosaus, and dinosaurs having a party. It contains illustrations by Korky Paul.

"The illustrations are a luscious treat for hungry eyes....each picture is a perfect complement for the poem." Calgary HeraldAbout the AuthorKorky Paul was born in Zimbabwe and is one of seven children. He studied Fine Art at Durban Art School, South Africa and Film Animation at CalArts, California, and started his working life in advertising. He illustrated the Winnie The Witch series for Oxford University Press, which won the Children's Book Award.
